20 Bachelorette Party Destinations That Are Not Las Vegas

By Aly Walansky Updated on February 8, 2017

These destinations are perfect for brides looking to do something just a little different.

If your friends are hitting several bachelorette getaways this year, you don't want your trip to be just like everyone else's. That may mean staying away from obvious and cliché destinations (we mean you, Las Vegas!) and thinking a little outside the box.

"Beach destinations are always a popular choice for bachelorette parties. When thinking about hot spots, Riviera Maya, Cancun, Cabo San Lucas, and Punta Cana all come to mind for 2017. These locales provide the lively nightlife that many ladies are looking for while also offering group excursions to get out and explore all that the destination has to offer during the day," says Megan Velez of Destination Weddings Travel Group. "Depending on the bride and her friends' preferences, the group can spend the day at the spa or hiking nearby trails, only to dance the night away just steps from their room. All-inclusive properties are an especially popular choice, as there's nothing better than included drinks for a bachelorette party!"

So whether your ideal getaway is fun in the sun or action and adventure, there's absolutely a vacation perfect for you and your friends.

Negril, Jamaica

Grab your girls and head to Hedonism II, Negril, Jamaica's famous all-inclusive, adults-only, clothing-optional resort for a Naughty Girl's Getaway.

A $50 gift-shop voucher will get you ready to experience the forbidden at Hedo's nightly sexy-themed parties. Think leather and lingerie. Groups with 10 rooms or more will receive a special welcome "surprise" that you'll only get here at Hedonism.

La Fortuna (Alajuela), Costa Rica

For a nontraditional bachelorette getaway, brides and their squad can head to Tabacon Thermal Resort & Spa, a tropical paradise spread across 900 acres of lush Costa Rican rain forest near the base of the Arenal Volcano. In addition to soaking in hot springs and waterfalls naturally heated by the volcano's magma and indulging in spa treatments rendered in outdoor bungalows to the sounds of local wildlife, gal pals can bond over adrenaline-pumping adventure activities such as horseback riding, zip-lining, and hiking to the La Fortuna Waterfall.
