Negril's Hedonism II Resort to Reopen

The adults-only Hedonism II resort in Jamaica is reopening in July, Caribbean Journal has learned.

Jamaica is officially reopening its borders for tourism on June 15, and Hedonism II is targeting a July 1 relaunch date, according to a spokesperson for the property.

The Negril-area 280-room resort, famous for its adult parties and events, says it has implemented new sanitation and safety protocols to “ensure guests can ‘party safely.’”

That includes mandated social distancing in all common areas, temperature checks using infrared sensors; staff-served buffets; “frequent sanitizing” of high-contact areas, disinfection of luggage and “continuous and effective disinfection of in-room surfaces and air conditioners.”

That’s along with protocols like mandatory masks, regular temperature checks for staff and other measures.

“In anticipation of Hedonism II’s July 1st re-opening, we have spent the last month undertaking preparations and consulting with local and international organizations to make sure our enhanced safety measures are up to the highest standards,” said Kevin Levee, General Manager of Hedonism II. “We look forward to welcoming home our guests and are confident that the iconic Hedonism II experience will shine through, even if it’s with some adjustments.”
